Program January 6, 2009

James Barrett, G.V. Fire Department paramedic and instructor for Mobile Med Training LLC, a Tucson based company.

Mobile Medical Training offers course work on CPR, First Aid and Health and Safety programs to...

- Fire Districts
- Ambulance Services
- Medical Centers
- Nursing Homes
- School Districts
- Industries
- Individuals

The company is a certified training center of the American Safety and Health Institute® (ASHI.) ASHI programs are equivalent to the American Heart Association® and American Red Cross® certifications.

The instructors, like James Barrett, currently work as professionals in the EMS, Paramedics or RN fields. As the name implies, instruction can be offered "on your site" thereby affording a relaxed atmosphere for study.

A full program prevented Paramedic Barrett from presenting a video.

Barrett outlined two types of CPR training...

- Standard "mouth to mouth"
- The newer and recommended compression method developed and advocated by the Sarver Heart Center at the University of Arizona. The later is rapidly obtaining universal approval.

Rotarians, who are interested in developing (or improving) skills in administering CPR and First Aid methods are encouraged to contact Mobile Med Training at (520) 400-4215 or Rotarian Captain Melissa Smith from the G.V. Fire District.

Classes are being scheduled at all times of the year.
