Program – St. Andrews Children's Clinic

Jim Fitzsimmons's career as a university facility manager served him well in retirement, not only at White Elephant but also in his work at St. Andrews Children's Clinic, which is nondenominational, nonprofit, and staffed with volunteers. It provides medical, surgical, and restorative care for impoverished Mexican children living along the AZ-Mexican border. The clinic has seen over 200 children the 1st Thursday of each month for the last 35 years. It provides dozens of cleft palate and other orthopedic surgeries and hundreds of diagnostic tests, pairs of orthotic footwear, and eyeglasses. In 2008 there were 2295 clinic visits by volunteer doctors. The clinic takes place at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Nogales. They hope to raise $500,000 from donors for a facility of their own. See www.standrewsclinic.org for more details.
